BRENT ANDREWS

BRENT ANDREWS, BPE, ATC

Occupation: Certified Athletic Trainer + Foot Specialist

About me: I worked with the Toronto Blue Jays during the playoffs in 1992 and 1993.

Special Interests: Foot specialist and custom orthotics expert for industrial employees and athletes of all levels. Sports orthotics including hockey and skiing, and specializations in baseball injury prevention and swing analysis.

Brent received his Bachelor's Degree in Physical Education, major in Athletic Therapy, from the University of Calgary in 1986. He spent 11 years in the Toronto Blue Jays system, including nine years as the Assistant Athletic Trainer with the Major-League club. Following his baseball career Brent trained under Dr. Glenn Copeland DPM and worked as an Orthotist at Footmaxx International, designing and providing foot orthotics for professional and elite amateur athletes and teams. He continues to integrate his experience in athletics, performance, biomechanics, coaching and rehabilitation to provide multifunctional support to the athletic population. He has been a part of the team since 2001.
